

Your Newborn Session

I'm so excited to come to your home and capture the magic of having a new little life in your family. For my newborn shoots I like to record moments and relationships as they are in this exact slice of time. I aim for candid, relaxed, gentle, and real with these beautiful new lives.

On the Day of Your Session: When I get to your home I will walk around a bit and find the most beautifully lit places for your photographs. The couch and master bed are often great places for family and sibling shots. I completely understand what it's like to have a newborn baby. Please don't worry about cleaning the house before I get there. We can easily tidy up any space we want to use.

Your Baby: I am so honored to be able to photograph this new little life. Your baby is beautiful and perfect just the way he or she is. I am here to freeze time for just a moment. With that in mind, simple is best. A simple, snug onesie with no graphics or words will help make these images timeless. If you would like to gather some favorite swaddle blankets, that would be great. I will have some larger white or creamy blankets to ensure a neutral background. It's a good idea to feed your baby about 15 minutes before I get there. We will take our time. I am not in any rush. We will follow your baby's lead throughout the session and preserve this very unique and special time in your life.

Siblings: Siblings are such an important part of a baby's life. We will try to get sibling and family photos soon after I arrive - before they lose interest. Again, there are no expectations here. My job is to capture the personalities and connections that your family already has with your newborn.

Mom & Dad: I know how stressful it is to have a new baby. Your job throughout the session is to simply relax and soak up this moment. If there is an image you really want, let me know. I love to collaborate with my clients. I will take pictures of both of you together with your baby and both you individually with your baby. I like lots of snuggles, and lots of slowing down and enjoying this really beautiful time.

Wardrobe: It's a good idea to stick to neutral colors – whites, creams, greys, etc.. Solids are great. The most important thing is for you to be comfortable.

Email me or text me if you have any questions. I'm so looking forward to capturing your new life.
